

John Smith, PT,
Director, Occupational Medicine, Spine Center and Outpatient Rehabilitation Services

- John Smith is currently manager director of the NEBH Occupational Medicine Center, the Spine Center and Outpatient Physical Therapy.
- John Smith graduated Magna Cum Laude from Northeastern University with a Bachelor's Degree in Health Science, Physical Therapy.
- Mr. Smith has presented at the Lewis Millender Occupational Medicine Conference, the topics were: The Knee Extensor Mechanism, and Clinical Cases of Successful Case Management
- John Smith's other leadership positions have included: Manager of NEBH Rehabilitation Services including Inpatient and Outpatient departments, Physical and Occupational therapy programs. Manager of Physical Therapy for Occupational Medicine (where he began practicing in the NEBH Spine Program, a specialty program of physical therapy for patients with chronic low back pain).
- Mr. Smith has served as a volunteer for the Boston Shoulder and Sports Conferences. He has also attended the Ryan Conference for Occupational Medicine, Maitland Manual Therapy Series (levels 1-4), North American Institute of Manual Therapy Courses (levels 1-4), and the regular Orthopedic Grand Rounds and Sports Medicine Rounds offered by NEBH.
- John Smith is a member of: The Safe Lifting Committee formed to reduce risk of and exposure to potential work place injuries at NEBH; The NEBH Hospital Leadership Council; the Internal Brand Team and the American Physical Therapy Association.